DA: "RIALTO OFFICER
SHOOTING - MURDER" Suspect Charged in Death of SWAT Officer

The Black Voice News

RIALTO

By Chris Levister

Facing an impressive wall of 40 Rialto police officers, prosecutors laid the blame for a shot that killed SWAT officer Sergio Carrera, Jr., squarely at the feet of Kris Antonio Wiggins.

"I want to make it clear today that it wasn't a Rialto police officer that used a gun or pulled the trigger. It was not friendly fire."

San Bernardino County District Attorney Michael Ramos told a packed news conference Wiggins 32, has been charged with murder in the death of Carrera but stopped short of saying who fired the fatal shot, whose gun was fired, or whether Wiggins used a gun of his own.

Early October 17, Rialto SWAT officers burst into Wiggins' three bedroom apartment which he shared with his long time girlfriend Nashalla Bell after a confidential police informant allegedly purchased rock cocaine at the apartment.

The 5-foot-5-inch, stocky Wiggins who told Rialto police his name was Jaranard Thomas, reportedly wrestled with a SWAT officer, and at one point reached around the officer and grabbed that officer's rifle.

Police say officer Carrera who was standing in a nearby hallway and wasn't involved in the fight, was hit in the head by at least one bullet.

Prosecutors claim Wiggins should have known officer Carrera was engaged in the performance of his duties.

Citing an on going investigation, Ramos declined to answer reporter's questions about Wiggins' struggle with another SWAT officer or whether he deliberately shot Carrera. "I will not discuss the facts in this case," insisted Ramos.

Ramos, Deputy District Attorney Cary Epstein or Deputy Public Defender Steve Willms would not say if narcotics or a weapon were found during the drug raid at West Cascade apartments.

"We allege the defendant murdered a victim who was a police officer. That's why we allege the gun use," said Ramos.

Under heavy security, more than 100 people packed Ramos's downtown San Bernardino office. Rialto officers wearing black bars over their badges breathed a collective sigh of relief at the announcement.

"This shooting hit where it hurts - it hit home," said Lt. Joe Cirilo who along with his fellow comrades formed a wall of unity in the back of the room during the news conference.

The criminal complaint alleges that Wiggins "personally and intentionally" discharged a rifle and that he killed a peace officer. The complaint also asserts his actions "proximately caused great bodily injury and death to Carrera."

Wiggins is wanted on a $100,000 warrant out of Grenada, Miss., on suspicion of selling rock cocaine. According to Grenada law enforcement officials Wiggins jumped bail leaving his wife and children behind.

Monday afternoon, in a Fontana courtroom Wiggins clad in an orange jumpsuit, his face bruised and swollen pleaded not guilty to the murder charge.

Judge Stephen Saleson set bail at $2 million. Wiggins is scheduled to return to court October 30.

If convicted, the Rialto property manager faces 50 years to life in prison.

Services for Carrera are set for 10 a.m. Friday at Montecito Memorial Park and Cemetery, 3520 East Washington Street, Colton.

Public viewing is Thursday 6 p.m. at Apostrophe Catholic Church, 14085 Peyton Drive, Chino Hills.

A reception will follow at Calvary Chapel, 1391 W. Merrill Avenue, Rialto.

SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY

Staff Report

No end in sight for the San Bernardino Mountains as walls of flames fueled by fierce winds, and dry timber raged out of control across California for a third day. Towering flames overwhelmed fire crews again Wednesday raging through dozens of homes in Lake Arrowhead, Green Valley Lake and Running Springs to the east and Highland to the south.

By day 3 the Grass Valley Fire, west of Lake Arrowhead and the Slide Fire, which started near Green Valley Lake, had destroyed at least 1,600 homes consumed more than 6,000 acres and sent thousands fleeing to local shelters and beyond.

"We are completely overwhelmed." These winds are so strong we're just trying to keep it from spreading. There's not a lot more we can do. It's devastating."

In Lake Arrowhead the fire raged out of control when downed power lines in Grass Valley ignited a fast moving fire that sent Black Voice News health columnist Dr. Ernest Levister and his wife Senior Black Voice News Correspondent Chris Levister running with little more than the clothes they wore.

"We smelled smoke around 5:30 a.m.," said Dr. Levister. "I was running on the treadmill, said Ms. Levister. The sun came up around 6:20 when we saw a huge plume of thick black smoke on the ridge above our home we knew we were in trouble. Our first words were 'oh God' not again. We were evacuated for 13 days in 2003. By 6:30 the air was filled with smoke we could see flames on the ridge. The power was out. At 7:00 the sheriff came around and said... 'fire in the area - get out'. I grabbed my makeup bag and some photographs. We packed the laptop, a few clothes and headed for the nearest road out. People were panicking, grabbing their pets and just about anything they could pack into their vehicles. There was a lot of confusion. Highways 18, 189 and 330 the main roads off the mountain were bumper to bumper with vehicles. We were without formal communication - the reverse 911 alert system had been disabled by the downed power lines."

"We've lived in Lake Arrowhead since 1991," said Dr. Levister, a cardiologist, this was the worst we'd seen. Unlike the 2003 Old Fire this one was fast moving and in the worst place - where the majority of the people live. Turns out our home is located 3 blocks from ground zero -

Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger tours the Lake Arrowhead fire area.

Gale force winds and a lack of aerial support, firefighters were overwhelmed by flames racing through homes in Lake Arrowhead, Green Valley Lake and Running Springs.

the Grass Valley Fire where almost 300 homes were torched within hours. Like the thousands of other evacuees we were left to the grace of Mother Nature and the surreal pictures on television. Monday evening we were told our home was most likely lost. Tuesday afternoon our fortunes changed, a friend who remained on the mountain called, his words were both welcome and haunting: 'The houses in front and on both sides of you are smoldering rubble. Your house is still standing.' "We are thankful to God and the many persons who reached out to us," said Ms. Levister.

"You couldn't see across the golf course - the smoke was so intense," said Joe McCormick, who was at the Lake Arrowhead Country Club as the Grass Valley Fire intensified.

"My horse - it's in a trailer hooked to the back of my truck. My pig Pink is beside me on the seat. - My house is a total loss," said Jim Hines whose home in Grass Valley burned to the ground.

Brian Showls who was evacuated from Crestline Tuesday night stood teary eyed in a Waterman gas station with his 5 sons. His wife Maria sat in a wheelchair. "We're out of gas. We're on the way to the shelter. We have no place else to go."

In Running Springs - a sign of just how desperate the situation is authorities said Wednesday they had no hope of getting on top of the blazes due to the unpredictable nature of the Santa Ana winds.

The bottom line is there is not enough air assets, not enough helicopters, not enough resources to go around, said San Bernardino National Forest ranger Kurt Winchester.

"In a lot of places like Running Springs - dozens of homes are engulfed - it's a very bad situation - you just have to back off and let the fire go."

Hundreds of mountain residents are scattered in shelters, others have taken refuge with friends and relatives, still others are waiting for news and relief from the comfort and safety of their cars.

An August survey, conducted by the San Bernardino Police Department finds only 6.8 percent of parolees live in licensed or unlicensed group homes, while nearly 70 percent are living with friends or relatives, according to a joint statement issued by Mayor Pat Morris and Police Chief Mike Billdt.

"With only 81 out of 2,058 parolees living in this situation, we cannot pretend that closing these homes actually reduces parolee recidivism in San Bernardino," said Morris.

The findings appear to run counter to arguments that San Bernardino is overrun by parolees living in unlicensed group homes. Critics argue that unmonitored parolees residing in such facilities account for a significant share of crimes committed in the city.

Morris requested a comprehensive survey after City Attorney Jim Penman, who is seeking re-election in November, spearheaded a successful drive for a moratorium on group homes for 2 or more unrelated adults on parole or probation.

Penman called the report "engineered", stating that he considers it political manipulation to release the findings just three weeks before the election. He said the findings don't jive with his records or department investigators' stories of crowded group homes.

"The mayor is introducing politics into policing," he said.

"Recidivism data tells us parolees who are homeless, transient, or at-large are the most at-risk to re-offend, and they pose the greatest public safety threat to our community," said Billdt. "We must keep our resources focused on this high risk population."

In September City Council members imposed a moratorium on new group homes for 10 months based upon claims by Penman and several other elected officials.

The heated debate over parolees in the city is magnified by the State's struggle with prison overcrowding, which increases the possibility of large numbers of parolees being released to local communities.

Morris who defeated Penman for the mayoral post in 2005 and has endorsed his challenger, said the sur-

Community We Have A Problem, Report To Duty

Back in September, I received in my email a press release that indicated the drop-out rate for college students is now at 50%. This is much higher than it was back in the 60's and 70's when it was about 30%. Now the release did not break down the statistics by race, but as most statistics go these days, I am certain that for Blacks that figure is higher. Then just last week Jack O'Connell, California Superintendent of Schools, stated during a trip to San Bernardino County that the achievement gap between African-Americans and other students was wide and getting wider. This includes immigrants -- legal and otherwise.

Hardy L.
BROWN

In other words, Blacks are at the bottom of the barrel when it comes to achievement in the county which tells us we have a problem. San Bernardino County Superintendent of Schools, Herb Fischer, said that our number one problem in the county is "under educated youth." This, in his mind, is a greater travesty than the issues that get all the attention: crime, air pollution, and transportation. He is saying we have a real problem.

It has long been reported that Riverside and San Bernardino counties have the lowest college going rate in the state for all students regardless of their race or gender. We have long had a problem. Now this past weekend we had a young man gunned down while standing to be served at a fast food establishment along with a small child. Add to that the senseless other deaths that have occurred over the past year, you should know we have a problem. Then when you take into account the double digit high school drop-out rate, you can see we have a problem.

When you have a national report aired on television that there is a shortage of males as teachers in elementary schools, we have a problem. When Marian Wright Edelman of the Children's Defense Fund writes a report that speaks to the issue of a pipeline for Black males from cradle to prison, we have a problem. When she follows up with a letter that states, "Imagine coming into this world with a prison cell already reserved in your name," I say "Houston we have a problem."

This is the stark reality that our young Black males face unless we as older Black males step-up to the plate and dismantle the obstacles that lead them in that direction. No, we cannot do it alone because it was not created by us alone, but since others appear helpless we must join in the struggle. To that end, I appreciate what Rickerby Hinds, a professor of theatre at the University of California, Riverside is doing with a group of young men by providing a self discipline program through "buck dancing." I appreciate what Hardy Brown, II is doing at Wilberforce University to prepare young men for careers through academic training, dressing for success, speaking with confidence, and personal care that says come in for a closer look. I appreciate what Rev. Raymond Turner, pastor of Temple MBC just did, when he started a Boy Scout Troop, purchased uniforms, and took the boys to the mountain top of Idyllwild to begin their life skills training. I appreciate what Rev. Larry Campbell, pastor of St. Paul AME Church did, when he said to the congregation that they should support our community youth on a historic journey from Kentucky to Canada to learn about their history. I appreciate what Dr. Robert Fairley, pastor of New Hope Baptist Church, has done for many years funding jobs for youth during the summer. I appreciate what ICUC did when they gathered youth and got them involved in the political process in the city to address issues of crime.

There are many others, I am sure, who have done things to remove the obstacles blocking the way of our youth, and I'd like to hear from you. I also want to recognize Mr. Frank Quevedo, Vice President of Southern California Edison, for the new partnership he is entering into with the Black Voice Foundation, Inc and our Faith Based Education Initiative to help our youth continue learning after high school.

All of you who follow the space program are familiar with the famous phrase... "Houston We Have A Problem." The statement originally reported a genuine life-threatening problem US Apollo 13 faced in flight as they reported a major technical problem back to their Houston base.

Well "Black Community We Have A Problem." All hands on deck and report to duty. Cancel your vacation. Kiss your loved ones and tell those who don't want to do anything to keep up the good work until you get back. Tell them that you want to increase the college going rate for Black students. Tell them that you want to reduce the number of Black males (580,000) who are serving time in prison and increase the number of Black males graduating from high school and earning bachelor's degrees. Tell them that you want to disrupt the pipeline that leads our youth to prison. Tell them that you want to increase the number of Black owners of business. Tell them that you want to help remove the barriers that keep Black people from getting government contracts. Tell them that you are going to start by patting your own boy on the back and asking him how are things going today. Then I am going to pat the neighbor on the back and ask him how are things going today. When I see him at school, church, or grocery stores I am going pat him on the back and say nice seeing you. Yes, community I am reporting to duty, I understand we have a problem...what are you going to do?

Imagine coming into this world with a prison cell already reserved in your name

Marian Wright Edelman

Dear Editor

That is the tragedy that awaits at least one in three Black boys. Millions of poor American children are condemned to prison by the time they reach their teens because they are failed at every turn in their lives - failed by their family, the child welfare system and the juvenile justice system.

Consider this:

- Today, 580,000 Black males are serving sentences in state or federal prison, while fewer than 40,000 Black males earn a bachelor's degree each year.

- A child is born into poverty every 36 seconds and born to a teen mother every 60 seconds.

- Between 2000 and 2006, the number of children living in poverty increased by 1.2 million to reach 12.8 million children. One in six children is poor.

Frankie, who first appeared in juvenile court on a misdemeanor assault charge when he was barely ten years old, embodies this tragedy all too well.

Taken from his mother at birth, he was passed from one foster home to another for the first eight years of his life. At the age of ten, this troubled, depressed young boy hit an adult, the police were called and he took another step towards the adult criminal system.

Frankie was failed from birth by all those adults who should have protected and nurtured him - his family, the child welfare system and the juvenile justice system.

For a nation that claims to be the world's greatest democracy and a beacon for justice and freedom, the "Cradle to Prison Pipeline" is a national disgrace that costs billions of dollars, ruins tens of thousands of our children and deprives us of the young talent that could build a brighter future.

Join the CDF Cradle to Prison Pipeline® Initiative to dismantle the "pipeline" and help children like Frankie!

With your help CDF will:

- Continue to demand that public officials renew and increase funding for existing programs, such as early childhood education and health care, which are designed to keep children out of this pipeline.

- Partner with the faith community to create safe havens from the streets and help nurture the minds, bodies, and souls of our children.

Please join us... your contribution will make a critical difference as we launch this new movement for America's children.

Stand with us, and help prevent any more children from following Frankie down that pipeline to a prison cell.

Marian Wright Edelman, President

Jena 6

On October 16, 2007, twenty-two members of the House Judiciary Committee had a hearing regarding the Jena 6 on Capitol Hill. It was at this hearing that Representative Sheila Jackson Lee (D-Texas) made a statement that gave a clarion call of a battle trumpet to the thoughts of many around this nation to U.S. Attorney Donald Washington of Louisiana, an African American, as representative for the President. With inflection in her voice, Congresswoman Jackson Lee said, "I am outraged." Well thank you Congresswoman for sounding off and out of my sentiments exactly-I am OUTraged too.

I am OUTraged that less than a month ago seven black boys blatantly beat down a young white teenage boy in Norfolk, Virginia and it was caught on videotape. Violence of any kind should not be tolerated in these days and times. We are intelligent beings and should interact and reason as such in spite of racial differences.

I am OUTraged that President Bush vetoed a bill that would gain more health insurance for children of this nation. This same President seemingly won the 2004 Presidential election with the help of those in the evangelical community by standing against abortion. Now, this same President had the unmitigated gall to not support a bill that would help the nation's most precious resources in our children have access to medical care. Yet, this same President asked Congress for $46 billion more dollars to fund the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan. Come on people! We have to be informed before we get inspired by our legislators for this very reason.

I am OUTraged that the media wants to crown Hillary Clinton with the 2008 Democratic nomination for the 2008 presidential election, but Barack Obama is too liberal as a black man to be her running partner for Vice President. I think the media wouldn't be the media if comments like this weren't made. Nonetheless, minorities will have a voice in the future on the political landscape of this country.

Lastly, I am OUTraged and disappointed that BET in my opinion took advantage of the infamy of two of the young men, Bryant Purvis and Carwin Jones, known as the Jena 6 by allowing them to be presenters at their version of the Hip-Hop Awards. It's unfortunate that these young men have been entangled with an unjust justice system in Louisiana, but shame on you BET for justifying their violent activity with public kudos on global television at your Hip-Hop Awards. It's worse enough that hip-hop and black youth have sufficient negative misrepresentation surrounding them with this so called "thug" mentality. This is not hip-hop but more claptrap and poppycock influencing young minds. Stand up BET and hold yourselves accountable in the future. Stop trying to draw ratings and start seeking equality through your medium of communication for all humanity.

We all are aware that problems go unresolved and I'm not coming forth with answers to solve this society we inhabit. But I would like to offer a couple of suggestions to the generation to which I am entrusted if you're outraged like myself.

1. Get Insight- The Bible says in all your getting get understanding. This means get as much information as possible in order to have an informed opinion. This way you may be able to engage with a conscious decision on how you feel about issues based upon your value system of norm and mores.

2. Get Involved-Take upon a cause. Support it and make a difference. For example, public schools always have volunteer activities that they would love for you to participate in for an hour out of your busy schedules weekly.

Distrusting the Flu Shot

Dear Dr. Levister: I had the flu shot 24 years ago. It made me sick. Should I trust it now? R.S.

Dear R.S. The flu shot is safe and effective, but you are not alone in your apprehension. Millions of Americans avoided the flu shot this season even though free shots were widely available in many neighborhood clinics and senior centers.

As the country faces another flu season - heightened by fears of bird flu in Asia and now Europe - health officials are grappling with a looming crisis: Many Americans, particularly Blacks, don't trust annual flu shots. In 2004, 45 percent of Blacks over the age of 65 - the age group most susceptible to the illness - received the shots, according to the Center for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). That compares with 55 percent of Hispanics and 67 percent of Whites.

The disparities partly explain why African-Americans are 6 percent more likely than Whites to die from seasonal flu or pneumonia, a common flu complication, according to the CDC. Decades ago, adverse reactions, like those you describe, were common. Today's shots are safer and easier to administer, although they can still cause sore arms and rare fevers.

The myth that you can get flu from the vaccine continues to be alive and well. A 2003 study found that about 55 percent of Black seniors in California believe that flu shots cause or could cause flu, compared with 23 percent of elderly whites. Dr. David Satcher, former U.S. surgeon general and now interim president of Morehouse School of Medicine points to suspicion, fostered the oft-repeated "Tuskegee Study of Untreated Syphilis in the Negro Male," which from 1932 to 1972 studied 399 poor Blacks in Alabama suffering from the sexually transmitted disease. Many of the men were allowed to suffer and die even after penicillin, which cures syphilis, became available in 1947. The CDC has launched a national campaign to educate Blacks and others about the benefits of getting the flu shot. I personally took the shot. My wife also had the shot. As the advances in medicine evolve, so do the safeguards against abuse. I hope you will reconsider your apprehension. The flu shot is safe and effective.

BAILEY, II
M.D., F.A.C.S.

No great personal adventure ought to be undertaken without knowing who you are behind your skin. Ancient Africans believed it was of utmost importance for one to Know Thyself because Self-Knowledge is the opening to all other knowledge. They said to start with the recovery of one's Real Self from ones delusions and ignorance that clouds Reality. The tools for conversion are lofty knowledge of Spiritual Truth, Goodness, and Beauty. The means are experiencing:

- (1) a Mystical Death of one's False Self;
- (2) a Spiritual Transformation into realizing that all God's creatures and creations are spiritually related (i.e. Wholism); and
- (3) a Rebirth into knowing what Love really is and how to spread it so that it does the most good-for the most people over the longest period of time. This course requires following ones true nature; acquiring a disciplined mind with focused energy; and possessing Self-Love (which embraces Self-Respect and Self-Trust). These provide the foundation for virtue and generate the Inner Strength for good character and Inner Peace. Since Inner Peace is a manifestation of inner harmony and unity, it serves as an alarm system to indicate when something is anti-harmony. The same applies when one is operating out of "Pure" or Spiritual Feelings (which connect ones Real Self to the Sublime). The factors which create Reality in ones life are Truth (which automatically comes from "Knowing Thyself") and having a strong sense of Responsibility (shouldering the consequences of what one thinks, feels, says, and does) as part of being accountable to a higher spiritual authority.

To "Know Thyself" is to reach the plane of your spiritual light. That light will inspire your System of Values (i.e. things of intangible worth and things of material value) in loftiness, type, degree, and method of attainment; your motives and actions; your relationships, Integrity, and living a balanced life. When you "Know Thyself" your mind is free from bad thoughts and bad emotions-the mindset for the lofty expansion of your mind. To "Know Thyself" is to be aware of your intrinsic Dignity. Thus, there is no need to rely on others' approval. Nor will you internalize, accept, or even allow yourself to be disrespected or defined by others or guide your destination in life. You will naturally do the right and descent thing because it is the right thing to do. To "Know Thyself" is to recognize the Dignity (God's image) within all beings and to have compassion for their pain and suffering, even if you detest what they do. Such harmonious balance constitutes the Inner Self Stability Platform from which all choices, decisions, creations, and solutions spring forth. "The Way" of African Tradition is to stay in harmony while engaged in Ma'at.

Nothing is more important in "Knowing Thyself" than to develop Wisdom (which Ancient African defined as intuiting the Will of God). Wisdom is achieved but striving for Good Character and Good Character Common Sense is the display of Wisdom. To stay in harmony and balanced requires Mental Toughness-i.e. remaining unchanged under any difficult circumstance and yet continuing to make "excellence routine" of your work products. To "Know Thyself" is to realize your Purpose in Life-your Secret Dream-your Legacy as well as your Talent (which you are given to make your Mission happen). Next, your Talent must be developed within the context of your Mission in life. Then, from possessing a clear and free mind, consider all the options which will enable you to find exactly the right niche for you to selflessly share your work product.

Forgiveness Does Not Exempt You From Consequences

play." All was forgiven without consequences. Unfortunately, many adults still believe that once they apologize, everything goes back to normal. They expect the same non-penalty-forgiveness they received as a child.

To forgive only implies that someone agrees not to carry a grudge against you, your debts are erased, or your wrongdoing is excused. However your dirty deeds are not erased from memory. As in bankruptcy, your debts are forgiven but your bad credit rating will follow you. Thus your bad credit rating is your consequences.

When you are truly forgiven, your past will not be brought up and held against you in the future. Such forgiveness only occurs in the Bible. The Bible says that our sins are cast into the sea of forgetfulness. Believers in Jesus Christ are forgiven of all their sins over and over again when they ask God for forgiveness. However, spiritual forgiveness assures that you are saved from damnation not that your life on earth will be without consequences for your wrongs. There's a biblical principle that you shall reap what you sow.

In society forgiveness comes with a shadow of guilt that will follow you forever. Since society doesn't have a heaven or hell to send you to, society must hold you accountable in the here and now. People with a history of drug use or felony convictions should not blame society for not putting them in trustworthy positions. Forgiveness in society does not equal to forgetfulness. Jesus Christ will not remind you of your pre-saved past but society is not so inclined. Forgiveness in society merely means, we will not stone you to death or carry a grudge but until you prove yourself - keep your distance. This is because your past is where your reputation was built. And society will always hold you accountable to the reputation that you created. Saying I'm sorry in a sincere manner is only the first step towards being truly forgiving but you still have a ways to go.

When your child does wrong and you decide to punish him or her, the fact that they apologize is to their advantage and it may get the some leniency but it shouldn't stop you from going forward with some form of consequences or you're lacking as a responsible parent.

Finding And Evaluating Deals Online

steal your passwords. I suggest you disable the password saving <http://kb.iu.edu/data/ahvh.html> functionality and remove previously saved passwords <http://kb.iu.edu/data/alcx.html> in Internet Explorer and use a password manager instead (see "Use a Password Manager and Generator" below).

USE A PASSWORD MANAGER AND GENERATOR

I personally use RoboForm <http://www.roboform.com/php/land.php?affid=3525> as a tool to manage and generate passwords. This website <http://www.pctools.com/guides/password/> can generate powerful passwords for you; however, they will be difficult to remember. If you don't want to pay the license fee for RoboForm, I suggest you check out KeePass <http://keepass.info/>.

If you prefer to not use any software at all, check out this solution <http://lifehacker.com/software/top/gEEK-to-live--choose-and-remember-great-passwords-184773.php>.

USE FINGERPRINT AUTHENTICATION

You could use your fingerprint as the master password into your computer. Newer laptops have fingerprint recognition hardware built in. You can get an idea on the cost of USB based scanners here http://www0.dealtime.com/xGS-fingerprnt_scanner, then purchase one from a trusted vendor.

There are three drawbacks I have seen to using fingerprint recognition: 1) I have not found software to make it easy to carry your passwords from one computer to another, 2) if you need to remotely access a computer, you may be out of luck and 3) it's another device I need to carry.

ENCODE WRITTEN PASSWORDS

If you insist on writing your passwords down on paper, at least encode them <http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Encryption>. For example, you may keep a portion of every password in your mind that it same for all passwords, but never write down that portion.

If the mentally stored password is 1234, when I create a password "pa1234ssword", I would write down "password2". The number two at the end lets me know that the numbers in my head go after the second letter.

LOCK DOWN YOUR PC

Here <http://pcworld.about.com/magazine/2204p103id114727.htm> are 29 tips to help make sure that your computer is sufficiently protected.

LOCK DOWN YOUR MOBILE PHONE

It's easy to overlook this, but be sure to password protect your phone and/or pocket PC. You should be familiar with how to easily lock it after each use. Setup the auto-lock feature, which allows the phone to lock itself after a certain period of time.

It's important to remember that no system or password is foolproof; however, with these methods you add an extra layer of protection.

What methods and tools do you use to keep your passwords safe?

Please send all feedback, topic suggestions and/or questions to TechTalk@AboveTheLimit.com. Digital archives can be found at BlackVoiceNews.com and IngleWoodToday.com.

AVOID PASSWORD THEFT IN FIREFOX AND INTERNET EXPLORER

Did you know that if you do not set your master password in Firefox, others can see all the passwords you have had Firefox remember in plain text? Follow these instructions <http://www.security-hacks.com/2007/05/11/firefox-how-to-set-master-password-to-setup-your-master-password>.

Internet Explorer does not have a master password functionality. Someone who has access to your computer can easily find http://www.passcape.com/internet_explorer_password_recovery.htm

With more of us using online services, such as online banking and bill pay, we have increased the chance of identity theft. I advocate the use of online services as a method to increase productivity; you just need to take the necessary precautions.

Here are some tools and simple steps to reduce the chance that your personal information will be stolen via one of your passwords.

AVOID WIFI PASSWORD THEFT

Whether the router came with your service, or you purchase your own router, it should be protected from unwanted use.

Make sure that you:

1. Change the default password per the instructions that come with your router. Call the help line for your router if you find reading the manual equivalent to obtaining a PHD in WIFI.
2. Use WPA encryption. If you have no idea what this means, then I suggest you contact the help line for your router.
3. Take this free class <http://networking-wireless.classes.cnet.com/protect-your-wi-fi-network-from-hackers/> to learn about protecting your WIFI network from hackers.

do," said Dan Vega of Green Valley Lake.

Hundreds of patients were evacuated from the Lake Arrowhead Mountains Community Hospital. Guests of the Lake Arrowhead Resort were evacuated Monday. The posh hotel was turned into a command post for fire personnel. Cal State San Bernardino evacuated student.

Cal State University, San Bernardino student Crescent Green who was evacuated by the Little Mountain blaze said, "I think it was insane to be able to watch the fire eat acres upon acres of land and be at school which is so close in plain site, devour the land. I never saw anything like that in my life. It was scary and amazing but at the same time I was like oh my gosh, I got to get out of here. Coming from one natural disaster (Hurricane Katrina) to another is crazy.

Schools throughout the county were closed. Many county run facilities in the Inland Empire were shut down due to wind and smoke. Seven fires raged across San Diego County, 500,000 people remain under mandatory evacuation.

Frustrated motorists trapped by numerous road closures idled in vehicles for hours. An uncontrolled fire moved south from the small community of Rainbow south choking off interstate 15 - the major artery between Riverside County and San Diego.

Southwest Riverside County on Tuesday played host to hundreds of fire evacuees escaping a blanket of deep gray smoke from fires in Riverside, San Bernardino and San Diego counties.

Meanwhile at the National Orange Show Fairgrounds in San Bernardino mothers holding babies and overstuffed pillows pushed through nearly 3,000 people taking refuge from the flames.

The American Red Cross Disaster Relief Center there has served more than 7,500 meals and snacks since the mountain fires erupted. Nearly 100 volunteers provided everything from food, water, and showers to diapers, toys blankets and bedtime stories.

The agency is appealing to all evacuees to register or contact a loved one to register on their behalf. Call 1800 REDCROSS or register online at www.redcross.org.

"Our goal is to ensure the well being of those who are in need. Registering is easy - and will help account for persons affected," said spokesman Robert Bahler.

"It's just us now - Lucy our dog and Gus our pet snake - our house is gone - Smiley Park near Running Springs is gone - it's so sad," said Paul and Linda Vickers resting against a Red Cross Disaster vehicle.

"The Red Cross has been good to us - unlike Katrina - the people are being treated like human beings," said Dennis Holmes whose sister was a victim of the tragic hurricane. "Prayers and her spirit have kept me going."

The Jerry Lewis Community Center in Highland transformed into a temporary home for hundreds of evacuees from the Slide Fire.

Davion Clayton dancer in the popular hip-hop group 'Buck World' said his parents Vel Danials and Gerald Clayton were evacuated from their east Highland home due to wind and heavy smoke.

"Looking up the hill and waiting - that's the hardest thing," said Joe Ramos 79 of Big Bear.

Inland hotels are sold out with waiting lists of up to 400. Restaurants along the foothills struggled to keep up with hungry and sometime irritated evacuees.

"We're trying to accommodate everyone affected by the fire," said Phil Genan, manager of a San Bernardino fast food restaurant. "Even the one's without money."

Inland elected and community leaders joined government officials across the state calling for calm and federal resources.

"This is a tragic time, we in the legislature will do whatever it takes to help the fire victims recover from their losses," said Senator Gloria Negrete McLeod. "Our office is in contact with the Governor who is in contact with the President. We will attack this tragedy in our community from all sides," said Assembly member Wilmer Amina Carter.

Congressman Joe Baca offered assurances to the fire victims. "Together we can get through this, federal help is on the way," referring to the president's state of emergency declaration and his commitment to air tankers, money and other federal resources.

"Since the high wind, high fire conditions began late Saturday night, the City of San Bernardino has fully staffed all of our fire stations and every piece of fire fighting equipment in the city," stated San Bernardino Mayor Patrick J. Morris. "We will continue to maintain that deployment until the dangerous fire conditions have abated. We have also activated the City's Emergency Operations Center to ensure our public safety efforts are coordinated, and the information we distribute is accurate."

Tuesday Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger toured the Lake Arrowhead region calling the devastation "unbelievable." He issued a state of emergency for seven counties affected by the fires. President George W. Bush is scheduled to tour fire ravaged areas Thursday.

This is a "perfect storm". This is a tragedy for California, said the governor looking over the Grass Valley Fire ruins.

Afternoon winds are expected to die down and humidity is expected to increase. That would provide a ray of hope for thousands of weary firefighters, said Cathleen Thompson, of the U.S. Forest Service. "We'll take what we can get."

While no containment has been declared on either of the local fires, Thompson said with favorable weather conditions - firefighters can get a line around the Grass Valley Fire.

As for San Diego County and the local mountain communities of Running Springs and Green Valley Lake and other fire ravaged areas of southern California the fires, the waiting, the misery continue - unchecked.

vey points to a need for more comprehensive, intelligent and data-driven strategy to address parolee recidivism.

"The survey reveals that we must work with our state and county governments to create programs that effectively reduce recidivism among the overwhelming majority of parolees that are living individually with friends and family."

Billdt said the police department's five parole liaison officers and detectives from the Specialized Crimes Unit conducted an extensive review of state data systems to identify residency for all parolees in the city which included a hand count of computerized records and visits by police officers to 95 percent of the known group homes. He said parole agents routinely visit the facilities.

He said the department's collaborative effort with state parole investigators has reduced the number of parolees at-large in San Bernardino from 326 in July 2007 to 241 by the end of September 2007.

Several members of the city council warned against taking the survey as "gospel".

Councilman Neil Derry who supported a moratorium on new group homes and urged a crack down on existing parolee housing called the survey "misleading". He pointed to the 20 percent of parolees in the city that are homeless, transient or at-large.

"It would be inaccurate to say the survey is all-encompassing when we can't say where 20 percent of the parolees are living," said Derry. He suggested instead, a large number of parolees may be living in group homes that authorities have not uncovered.

Bruins Know When to Win

UCLA 30, CAL 21

Dorrell's defense saves the Bruins Homecoming and maybe a lot more

The Black Voice News

PASADENA

By Gary Montgomery
Staff Writer

UCLA head coach Karl Dorrell and his beleaguered Bruins team came into Saturday's Homecoming game against the Cal Bears looking down the barrel of loaded canon. The same one the Dorrell hater's have used over the years to lob monster sized shots at the head coach. After losing the previous week to winless Notre Dame and bringing their early season total of embarrassing losses to two, the Dorrell bashers went into overload.

Some bloggers had Athletic Director Dan Guerrero walking Dorrell to the door after the Cal game. One particularly angry blogger claimed to have contacted former UCLA quarterback turned successful college coach Rick Neuheisel to determine his availability. "Losing to Notre Shame was the last straw, Dorrell must go" wrote another angry blogger.

Of course after each embarrassment the Bruins (5-2, 4-0 Pac-10) continued to hang their collective hats on one unified mantra "we are still number one, undefeated in Pac-10 and in first place." A position they steadfastly cling to through every torturous interview.

With starting quarterback Ben Olsen still out with a knee injury and number 2, Pat Cowan returning from an injury, UCLA had a lot to worry about. Cal's high energy offense features Heisman candidate DeSean Jackson, quarterback Nate Longshore, running back Justin Forsett and receivers Robert Jordan and Lavelle Hawkins.

The Golden Bears were coming off their first loss of the season, a narrow 38-21 loss to Oregon State at home that dropped them seven spots to 10th in the associated press polls.

Cal took a 7-0 lead with 6:43 left in the quarter on a 21-yard touchdown pass from Longshore to Tight-end Craig Stevens. UCLA answered with 32-yard field goal to make it a 7-3 game. On the next possession quarterback Pat Cowan lead the Bruins on a 66-yard scoring drive culminating with a 2-yard touchdown pass to Logan Paulsen and giving UCLA a 10-7 lead.

Cal Regained the lead at 14-10 on a 39-yard touchdown pass from Longshore to Jackson with 9:06 left in the first half. The half ended with the score 14-13 after the Bruins' Kai Forbath booted a 28-yard field goal.

"Today you saw three phases of football working. It felt good to show everyone what we are capable of...It was the first game where we played all three phases of football against a quality opponent," said Karl Dorrell.

The Bruins defense turned in its usual solid performance and with backup quarterback Pat Cowan directing the offense for injured Ben Olsen the offense was contributing too. Junior running Kahlil Bell had 142-yards rushing on 22 carries the best performance by any rusher this season.

Early in the second half, Cowan handed the ball to Brandon Brazil on an end around, but Brazil pulled up and threw a 29-yard touchdown strike to Dominique Johnson to take a 20-14 lead. Cal scored again on a 2-yard toss form Longshore to Jackson to regain the lead at 21-20.

Then came the call that drove the Dorrell haters crazy. With 1:39 left in the 3rd quarter and trailing Cal 21-20, UCLA chose to try and draw the Bears offside rather than attempt a 4th and 1-yard conversion. After taking a delay of the game penalty the ensuing punt went through the back of the end zone for a touchback.

"I didn't want to make a mistake. It was longer than just fourth and one it was about fourth and one and a half. I just didn't want to put ourselves in a bad situation there," said Dorrell.

Dorrell's decision to let the defense take over worked masterfully. Cal's offense was stymied. Cowan led UCLA's offense to an 11 play 42 yard drive ending in another Kai Forbath field goal giving the Bruins a 23-20 lead with 2:54 left in the game.

The Bears launched one final game winning drive that appeared to be on a sure path for success until cornerback Alterraun Verner stepped in front of Longshore's pass and took it 76-yards to seal the Bruins' win. "We studied them and I thought I recognized what they were doing...so I just went for it," said Verner.

UCLA has beaten Cal the last four times at the Rose Bowl. They are unbeaten in conference play this season and have a share of first place in the Pac-10 along with Arizona State. They have seven straight conference wins dating back to last year.

By most standards, the Bruins are a successful team. Karl Dorrell must be wondering what else he'll have to do.

How have we helped 4 million Americans in need?

By never stopping.

50 states. 1,500 cities. 150,000 miles. The PPA bus is traveling throughout the country with one clear message: no one who needs medicine should go without. And in just over 2 years, we've helped more than 4 million people who are uninsured and struggling. Since the program began, the PPA bus—sponsored by America's pharmaceutical research companies—has spent more time in California than any other state. We've been from Redding to Riverside and Salinas to Santa Ana helping more than 230,000 Californians in need. As a parent, I think about Halloween as being the first "holiday" of the school year." When I was growing up my grandmother didn't make much to do about Halloween. I never knew if it was because she thought it was evil, and growing up in a Christian home, that wasn't tolerated. But what was interesting is that the holiday actually started out as a nice holiday to celebrate. According to the Webster dictionary, the holiday falls on the evening of October 31st followed by All Saints Day.

With all of the pressure on children today to participate in all of the activities of the world, the way that we as parents can keep it a safe and enjoyable holiday would be to celebrate it in one of the following ways.

- o Find a church or community center that has a "Harvest Festival" or family activities that you and your children can attend.

- o Have a gathering at your home where you encourage attendees to wear positive character costumes and serve food, treats and beverages to warm the soul.

- o Open up your doors to local "trick or treaters." Make sure they all have a positive treat that makes them think. But most of all encourage safety!

What's interesting is more and more adults are celebrating or participating in Halloween activities. The other day I was out at the mall and I noticed several stores that catered to grown ups and costumes. So if you must indulge, think of a theme that is positive and encourages dialogue that will be uplifting. We all know the traditional colors of Halloween are Black & Orange - so make all of your decorations coordinate with these colors. You can also make your food & beverage to match as well. Haven't you ever heard of Tang? Or orange food coloring for the frosting on cupcakes?

Whatever you do, have fun and be safe! Try to do something together as a family.

Give your all in all that you do. Then the PLUS won't just be more, it will be the difference!

Eligible voters are residents that meet the U.S. Poverty Guidelines. They must sign a voter registration form for this election no later than November 19, 2007. Voting will be by mail from November 20 through 30, 2007.

In addition, each candidate is asked to provide a biographical sketch, which includes his/her occupation, age, residence, a recent photo and other informational material. This is used to inform voters about the background of each candidate.
